The Ultimate Arthritis Pain-Killer Program

A Very Special Report

Suffering from the agonizing pain of arthritis? Undoubtedly you’ve been looking for relief—more and better relief. If you’ve been taking NSAIDs (“non-steroidal, anti-inflammatory drugs,” like Aspirin or Advil/Ibuprofen) for arthritis pain relief, you need to consider these facts:

- NSAIDs can cause continuous and ever-increasing stomach distress.
- According to Dr. Julian Whitaker, noted alternative care physician, NSAIDs block the body’s mechanism for healing joints and regenerating cartilage— treating the symptoms while worsening the actual cause of the pain.
- NSAIDs can definitely create some long-term complications for your liver.
- According to a May, 1999, issue of the New England Journal of Medicine, approximately 14,000 deaths in 1998 were directly attributed to NSAIDs. Interestingly enough, this figure approximates the number that died that year from AIDS.

In fact, according to a recent medical report on CBS News, these NSAIDs act on your liver in the same fashion as alcohol does. So, if you drink alcohol during the same day in which you take these NSAIDs, you’re doing “double damage” to your liver.

So, to really wipe out arthritis pain, help heal the condition and avoid side effects, try this all-natural three-step program:

- Apply PENETRAN topically to problem areas.
- Take Joint Plex.
- Take Oil of Evening Primrose.

PENETRAN (Immediate Relief).

To provide immediate relief to the symptoms— especially problem areas— I suggest using a topical ointment called PENETRAN.

A patient we know of had this to say about it:

“My name is Viola. Last January, a friend joined me in Florida. Unfortunately, she couldn’t golf because of a bad knee. A local pharmacist suggested that she try a particular product called PENETRAN. She did, and was golfing in two days.”

*“When I sprained my ankle after jumping off a golf cart, I decided to give PENETRAN

a try. The pain went away very quickly! Since then, I've used it successfully for all sorts of different pains— even backaches. My golf team was so amazed at my recovery, that many decided to try it as well. Twenty members (that I know of) now use it regularly, and all are very satisfied.”

What makes it work so well? Dr. Julian Whitaker, MD, noted alternative care physician, wrote in Health & Healing that PENETRAN takes advantage of the outstanding analgesic and healing properties of nitrogen compounds called quaternary amines, which are the primary agent for most injectable anesthetics such as Lidocaine and Novocaine. Thus PENETRAN acts like these anesthetics— without the needle or any burning or stinging.

Joint Plex (For Advanced Stage Arthritis).

If you have had your osteo arthritis longer than two years, it has probably expanded in your joints. It would appear as though you have advanced stage arthritis. As such, take our special selection of “Joint Plex.” This powerful all-natural medicine, found only in capsules, contains a combination of five different pain killers: Glucosamine Sulfate, Boswellin, Sea Cucumber, Bromelain and MSM; which provide you with a continuously-increasing amount of joint pain relief and do not create any of the above side effects— or any others, for that matter. MSM reduces inflammation, dilates blood vessels, increases blood flow, and can lower pain levels by 50% or more.

As an arthritis sufferer, you have probably heard about the great healing properties of Glucosamine sulfate. Glucosamine occurs naturally in all tissues of your body and is an integral part of the “glue” that holds your tissue cells together. Without adequate amounts of Glucosamine, researchers have found that cartilage, ligaments, tendons and blood vessels lack integrity, leaving them vulnerable to damage and discomfort. Supplementing with Glucosamine, which is easily absorbed from the digestive tract, stimulates new cartilage growth, repairs connective tissues, nutritionally supports the creation of healthy joint fluid, reduces joint tenderness and increases mobility. In fact, Glucosamine can actually help to regenerate cartilage when used properly. It is important to note that if you are currently taking Glucosamine, or plan to take it in the near future, be certain to take the proper dosage of Glucosamine sulfate. Glucosamine hydrochloride is widely available and inexpensive but is not helpful in the treatment of arthritis.

You may also have heard about Chondroitin sulfate, which is often offered in combination with Glucosamine sulfate in many arthritis pain-relieving formulas. However, several new studies are showing that the effect of Chondroitin sulfate is not nearly as important or effective for pain relief as once thought— and greatly increases the price of your arthritis fighting program.

There are two other natural ingredients that are offered in combination with Glucosamine sulfate that make a significant difference in pain relief without significant cost: Boswellin and Sea Cucumber.

Boswellin is the name given to the Boswellic acids extracted from the herb Boswellia serrata. Four different triterpene acids are the most active constituents of this herb. Research indicates that these acids may possess anti-inflammatory activity and suppress proliferation of inflammatory joint tissue. In some tests, Boswellin obtained more anti-inflammatory efficacy than a prescription anti-inflammatory drug. Boswellin has been found to be effective at reducing pain and stiffness, and improving grip strength and physical performance. It also improves blood supply to the joints and prevents the breakdown of tissues affected by arthritis, without the side effects associated with NSAIDs. Boswellin also shows no signs of ulcer-causing activity.

Sea Cucumber, also known as “Beche-de-Mer,” is a marine animal that is a relative of starfish and sea urchins. The Chinese and Japanese have used sea cucumber for centuries, usually incorporating it into soups and appetizers. Research now shows that sea cucumber effectively treats musculoskeletal inflammatory diseases (including both rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis). Studies reveal that some extracts act as an anti-inflammatory in laboratory animals better than hydrocortisone. Dr. Mori Schwartzberg states “Beche de Mer has been shown to have efficacy in the treatment of osteoarthritis and rheumatoid arthritis, though its exact mechanism of action remains unclear.” Part of its action may relate to the fact that it contains Chondroitin sulfate (in its natural— less expensive— form) and other components that work together to naturally build healthy cartilage. It also has no known side-effects.

Oil of Evening Primrose.

Another natural supplement, Oil of Evening Primrose, adds a whole new dimension to your pain relief. While it provides a mild form of lubrication to the joints, its primary function is to act as an all-natural anti-inflammatory medicine.

The medicinal effects of Evening Primrose were discovered by Native Americans hundreds of years ago. Chief Two-Trees of the Cherokee nation, who has studied with medicine men, reports that it was used to lessen spasms, as well as a sedative, pain killer, diuretic and a mild astringent.

Modern science has discovered that Evening Primrose Oil can eliminate mild cases of rheumatoid arthritis. Additionally, Oil of Evening Primrose can help to normalize saliva and tear production, heal or improve eczema, lower weight in the overweight, lower blood cholesterol and blood pressure, relieve the pain of PMS, improve acne (when taken with zinc), slow the progression of MS, improve the behavior of hyperactive children, improve fingernails and even alleviate hangovers! In animal testing, it appears to slow the rate of growth of breast cancer, reduce the risk of thrombosis and prevent the development of arthritis.

These three remedies work internally and synergistically to help provide long-term pain relief by slowing or preventing the development of arthritis, healing and repairing joint cartilage, and lubricating your joints— helping to cure the symptoms by actually healing the condition itself. Nowhere else in Appomattox can you get this high performance combination of all-natural combination of Arthritis fighters.

A patient we know had this to say: “What a powerful combination that is— especially when used in combination with the PENETRAN! Absolutely, the ultimate pain reliever, with no side effects.”
